

HINGED DOORS make cleaning easy on Walter Lester's Purple Martin house located on a 14 ft. pole in his back yard. Lester said the birds, which provide almost constant entertainment with their singing and soaring patterns, have been a definite asset in keeping his patio relatively free of flies and mosquitoes.

With F.M.L.

Randy Lofgren, director of the Methodist Home Chapel Choir, had a problem and the presence and talent to solve it.

The young choral director of the Waco-based church home brought the 30-voice mixed choir here Monday night, sans accompanist. At the time no one was quite sure why the accompanist missed the bus departure time.

Cameron Library Friends leadership had invited the group to appear at Cameron First United Methodist.

Lofgren explained the dilemma and then sat down at the grand piano and played accompaniment while his teen-age choir sang sans director.

They sang up-beat treatments of familiar hymns and included a religious rendition of "Love Is Surrender" made popular with different lyrics by the Carpenters, a folk-mod group which tops the charts with subtle, rhythmic treatments of popular music.

The choir also wore the modern dress of young people, red and blue outfits different from traditional choir robes one might expect.

One of the young singers is talented in readings, poetry as it were. She is sophomore Elizabeth Flemming, who "read" (presented) a poem with the finesse and poise of a professional.

Broiler Show Contestants To Receive Chicks

Sponsors will meet contestants at the Milam Courthouse Friday, March 17 and present 50 baby chicks to be raised for the annual Milam County Junior Broiler Show.

Contestants are FFA and 4-H Club members who will raise the chicks for the Saturday, May 13 show, when they choose the five best broilers for the show.

Chickens will be judged by a recognized judge on standard points for broiler shows. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded in each class.

Each contestant will present his five show chickens to his sponsor and the remainder of the flock will belong to the contestant.

An awards banquet will be held on Saturday evening, May 13, the day of the show. Each sponsor will meet his contestant at the banquet for the presentation of awards.

Members of the Namber Broiler Committee are Max McClaren, chairman; Leo Fuchs, Fredwill Hornung, Monroe Fuchs, William Arthur, Charles Brady, Cornelius Tittsworth, Allen Dodson, Billy McCutchen, and Danny Phillips.

she had been "reading" such work, Elizabeth answered since she was 3. She has worked with the Waco Civic Theatre and looks forward to a career in drama-music. She had the rapt attention of the audience of about 75, a good turnout for a Friends program. Her career is only beginning.

The other youngsters carried their weight. The tempo was bright, respectful of content, but youthful in church music idiom.

Lofgren said later he was glad the choir had not had to record the concert, considering the technical circumstances. He, incidentally, plays a pretty good bass hand at the piano. It was the kind of performance people remember.

Mutual Oil Announces Results Of Drilling

Mutual Oil of America, Inc., the Santa Fe, New Mexico based independent, announced the results of Phase I of their 1971 drilling fund program.

The first six wells drilled in Milam County produced five successful wells which are being completed with oil deliveries to Permian Corporation to begin shortly. First tests indicate reserves to be a significant addition to Mutual's reserves.

A company spokesman said Mutual Oil's initial drilling effort in the field was a "farm out" from General Crude, who earlier had discovered the Navarro "pay" during a Smack-over test.

This new Milbur field in Milam County is an extension of the Burm field which was discovered in 1971. Mutual Oil, as a result of this success, has acquired a large acreage position for development during Phase II of its Spring '72 program.

The Martins are coming. In fact, Purple Martin (bird) elders have already begun establishing homes in Milam County in preparation for a feast of mosquitoes as warmer weather settles in. If tradition continues, the younger birds will follow within the month.

The Purple Martins, at one time almost extinct in the United States, are now one of the most sought-after of birds both because of their enormous appetite for mosquitoes (authorities say a single Purple Martin will eat up to 2,000 of the insects in a day) and because of their interesting nesting habits. Several dozen Purple Martin houses have been erected in private yards around Cameron in recent years.

Walter Lester, one of the local Purple Martin enthusiasts, says poor housing caused the drop in the bird's population about 10 years ago. The Purple Martins once lived in hollowed out trees, but as suburbs grew, these "homes" were cut down. Moving to conventional bird houses further dwindled their numbers because the species has special needs for cleanliness and railings to protect fledglings.

In some sections of the country cities have abandoned the use of insecticides to fight mosquitoes and flies and have built Purple Martin "hotels" for insect control. Lester suggests that Cameron has an ideal location for a Purple Martin hotel on grounds adjoining the Cameron Public Library.

Interest in the small feathered animal seems to pyramid each year. A 40 to 50 page nationally circulated "Purple Martin News" is published monthly to keep bird watchers informed, and years of research have gone into the designing of homes and methods to attract the elusive bird.

Lester's bird house is made of aluminum which he prefers over wood because it is easy to clean, light and cool inside. It is set 14 feet in the air in his back yard and is raised and lowered by cleaning by means of a telescopic pole.

Houses range from the simple 4 to 8 family style to 50 - plus room mansions.

A Lakewood, Ohio man, Stephen Dubiel, probably holds the record for elegant Martin housing. A three-year project, Dubiel's bird house has 54 rooms, each with individual cleanout doors, ventilation holes, porches and guard rails. It is white with red trim and the roof is covered with tiny, multi-colored shingles.

The house required $1,000 worth

Commissioners Consider Bids For Tax Machine

County Commissioners considered bids on a new accounting machine for the Tax Office and printing supplies at their regular meeting Monday.

Representatives of National Cash Register Company and Burroughs met with Commissioners to explain their bids and service contracts. Tax office personnel also attended the meeting and made recommendations.

NCR bid was $10,332.02 for their accounting machine model with a service contract that would cost the county $699 a year. Burroughs bid was $12,626.13 for a pre-programmed machine with a service contract that would cost $632 a year.

Tax office personnel said they favored the Burroughs machine as easier to operate. Commissioners tabled a decision for further study.

Bids from four firms for county printing were also tabled.

Fact Of Continuity....

"I wish I could understand that."
This is a sum of adult comment on Yoe High School science fair exhibits last week, suggesting one point in what may be an untoward "generation gap."

Today's students are being trained in inquiry, not pure acceptance. That in itself is a difference from generations before us. Experience teaches finding one's own way is difficult, but historically people always have learned by experience or by one's own way, modifying basic truths to apply to that experience.

The reach of this inquiry has penetrated irrevocably into all our lives. It is only that we are want to hold to the comfort of the past because we know something of it, good and bad.

In a sense, the youth of the current generation is pioneering in larger numbers than ever crossed the plains and Rockies of the American West to push aside the American Indian and to bring this nation its continental span.

The span, the stretch now is in the mind. The inquiry is into the past as well as the future and modification of. We are pressed to put boundaries around the mind, other than the subtlest discipline, like we staked out claims for farms, lots, towns, counties and states on the ground.

One reason inquiry is occurring in great numbers is that little ground is left to stake out in the great abandon of the founding of this country. Refinement is a key to this nation's future, i. e., ecology, inner values, aesthetic appreciation once limited to the few who had created the leisure time to enjoy "the finer things."

One day this inquiry will carry us to other planets and to other galaxies because the drive to reach out is instinctive in us. That day will come when too many search an earth too small for our aggressive instincts.

This generation is preparing for that eventuality or better said, inevitability.

Most of us will stay behind when it comes, and those too will need the inquiry that bemuses or baffles older generations today, but which suggests a tomorrow as hopeful as young minds ought to be. By the fact of continuity, older generations with confidence in their young will understand.

Story About The Story....

Author Clifford Irving, and wife, entered pleas of guilty to the least offenses charged in their fake autobiography attempt on billionaire Howard Hughes.

Each receives 13 years prison sentence and $11,000 in fines. The total could have been 100 years.

This development flushed everybody but the elusive Mr. Hughes, who said from the beginning the book was a fake, and found ways to prove it.

He left the Bahamas, where much of the story around this story of his life unfolded. No one is sure where he went. It leads to speculation that Howard Hughes is the most innovative man of all or even that he doesn't exist.

The publishers involved have egg on their face after paying or promising to pay $650,000 or more for the manuscript, which probably was an imaginative rewrite of many items about the enigmatic Hughes. After Hughes pressed, McGraw-Hill pressed charges against Irving and wife.

As one publishing executive said to another, according to a cartoon in a recent magazine, "it would make a great book." Meaning, of course, the story about the story Irving fabricated.

Smith Leaves Special Session Up In The Air

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN Gov. Preston Smith left timing of a special legislative session up in the air after the Texas Supreme Court, in effect, said there has to be one.

The High Court, not unexpectedly, concluded that Secretary of State Bob Bullock could not order public financing of primary elections without prior legislative authority.

Smith conceded that apparently left him no alternative but to summon lawmakers back to work in advance of the May 6 primaries. He said he wanted to postpone the unhappy deed as long as possible and was not prepared to say when he would have to act.

Meanwhile, to help Smith with his decision, Bullock's staff compiled data on estimated costs of the May 6 and June 3 elections and when the bills would fall due.

Most legislators faced election campaigns hoped the session would be limited to the primary finance issue alone -- or perhaps that and highway billboard controls. The latter legislation is needed soon to avoid a threatened $24 million cut in federal road building funds allotted Texas.

Another special session will be needed later (unless Smith decides to lump all business into a single pre-election call) to approve a 1973 state appropriations act replacing the budget items vetoed last year by the governor.

Blitterness is expected to flare in the House of Representatives on opening day of the session -- whenever it is. An effort is almost certain to be made to oust Speaker Gus Mutscher who is being tried in Abilene on charges of conspiring to accept a bribe in the form of 1969 bank loans and prearranged insurance stock profits.

A coalition, in an effort to avert the House clash, is pushing Rep. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi as interim speaker. The leading speakership candidate, Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine, wants a showdown vote on electing a new speaker immediately.

CRIMES INCREASE

More major crimes were committed in Texas in 1971 than in 1970, but the increase actually was the smallest since 1963, the Department of Public Safety reports.

Cities over 100,000 population reported fewer major crimes -- a total of 298,033 as compared with 307,149 in 1970. The overall crime rate for the big cities was up three-tenths of one per cent.

The DPS Crime Report based on information submitted by Texas sheriffs and chiefs of police shows 482,386 major criminal offenses during 1971, an increase of 13,324 over 1970. All categories except theft (which declined 11.7 percent) increased. There were 1,687 murders, 3,075 rapes, 14,385 robberies, 137,140 burglaries, 34,472 aggravated assaults, 48,323 auto thefts and 243,344 thefts.

STORM INSURANCE CUT

A 26 per cent reduction in windstorm insurance rates for non-beach property in 14 coastal counties was ordered last week.

The cut, directed by the State Board of Insurance, takes effect before the hurricane season for those structures at least 2,500 feet from shore, 20 feet above mean sea level or protected by a seawall.

Property owners have been paying 150 per cent above normal rates through the Texas Catastrophe Property Insurance Pool. Beachfront property will continue at three times standard rates.

The Insurance Board also raised the maximum amount of insurance available through the pool from $100,000 to $200,000 on dwellings and from $500,000 to $1 million on commercial properties including schools and public buildings.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith named Moises V. Vela of Harlingen and reappointed Mrs. Marialice S. (Allan) Shivers of Austin to the board of regents of Pan American College, Edinburg.

Smith also appointed Luther May Jr. of Olney to the Midwestern University (Wichita Falls) board of regents; Mrs. Jackie Blackstock of Austin to the Teachers' Professional Practices Commission and Robert H. Cutler of El Paso, Joe P. Cain of Houston and Albert W. Rollins of Arlington to Texas Mass Transportation Committee.

VETERANS LAND BONDS

Forty million dollars worth of Texas veterans land bonds were sold last week at the lowest rate -- 4.03658 per cent -- paid by the program since 1961.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the sale assures continued financing of the program until early 1974. Constitutional interest rate ceiling for the bonds is 4.5 per cent.

The Veterans Land Board is constitutionally authorized to sell another $30.7 million in bonds to finance the program which has enabled almost 46,000 Texas veterans to buy land.

LABOR RECOMMENDS

The Texas AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education recommended support by labor union members of five statewide candidates but didn't agree on a candidate for governor.

Delegates recommended former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough for senator; State Sen. Joe Christle of El Paso for lieutenant governor, Houston lawyer John Hill for attorney general; John White for re-election as commissioner of agriculture and Bob Armstrong for re-election as land commissioner. They also strongly recommended

State Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty for speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Although the necessary two-thirds of COPE delegates did not rally behind any candidate for gubernatorial nomination, State Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi did get a commendation for her legislative reform efforts which she is carrying into the governor's race.

AFL-CIO President Roy Evans said COPE will try to raise $500,000 for primary campaign efforts.

AG OPINIONS

Texas is entitled to its proportionate share of the federal credit for state death taxes even though the decedent was a non-resident and specific property is exempt, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

"Deputies of county officials are 'employees' as defined in a new law creating a county civil service system for counties 300,000 or more.

SIGNS CHANGING

Watch for changes in traffic control devices, signs, signals and markings along Texas highways.

Texas Highway Commission approved them in the manual on uniform traffic control devices, based on recommendations of the American Association of State Highway Officials and Federal Highway Administration.

Changeover will be from words to symbols and pictures as part of an international move toward greater uniformity and clarity in road signs. The change will be gradual, with new signs going up initially on a replacement basis. Panels explaining the new symbols will be placed under the signs at first, then removed in about five years.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:
I've always contended that economists, like weather forecasters, are much better at telling you what happened yesterday than what's going to happen tomorrow, but now I'm beginning to doubt even that.

Or me and Benjamin Franklin are too far behind our times.

For example, I read in a newspaper last night which a March wind had blown against my front screen door and I pulled off because the fly season hasn't started yet anyway, that economists reported that the American public has demonstrated a grave lack of confidence in the economy by saving more money in 1971 than it has in any year in the last 25.

That's right. Economists, I understand, figure the more money a person saves the less confidence he has in continued prosperity. The more he saves, the less he spends, and the less he spends, the fewer the goods bought, resulting in a slowdown in the economy.

Last year, the economists said, Americans saved 8.2 per cent of their money, the worst, that is to say the highest, rate in 25 years. Any time they save more than 6 per cent the economy's in danger, according to the experts' theory.

As I understand this, when Benjamin Franklin said a penny saved is a penny earned, what he was actually saying is that a penny saved is an attack on prosperity. When he said "neither a borrower nor a lender be," he was undermining the national economy.

Ole Ben may have been ahead of his time in discovering electricity but he was way off the beam when it comes to a balanced budget. How could he have missed discovering that a budget, although 30 billion dollars in the red, is balanced if all the money you planned on coming in had come in?

Come on, Ben, everybody knows a penny saves is a monkey wrench thrown.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"Low Down" FROM THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

CHINESE NUCLEAR CAPABILITY NOTED

SEN. W.E. BROCK (Tenn.) "In his appearance before the Senate Armed Services Committee, Secretary of Defense Mel Laird presented the fiscal year 1973 Defense budget and the fiscal year 1973-77."

"Mel Laird has done his homework, it behooves each of us to do ours."

"I ask unanimous consent to have that part of the fiscal year 1973 defense budget and the fiscal year 1973-77 program printed in the Record." (We present excerpts pertaining to THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA.)

The two Chinese space satellite launches during the last year and a half, and the approximately one dozen nuclear tests since 1964, indicate a fairly high degree of sophistication in both missile and warhead development.

The Chinese have no intercontinental bomber force and do not appear to be developing one.

The growth of the Chinese nuclear strike capability has been remarkable.

China is now focusing on the development of liquid fueled ICBM systems. There is some evidence that the Chinese are engaged in the development of solid fuel missiles, but there is no good basis for estimating specific dates for production or deployment.

Even though we regard Chinese theater nuclear capabilities as primarily deterrence-oriented, the range and warhead yield of the missile forces and the expansion of the TU-16 Badger medium bomber fleet are significant. At present the Chinese missile threat encompasses most cities and other area-type targets in SOUTH AND EAST ASIA AND A SUBSTANTIAL PART OF THE USSR. WE BELIEVE THAT THE CHINESE COULD BEGIN DEPLOYMENT OF AN ICBM WITH A RANGE OF 3,000 NM OR MORE, CAPABLE OF STRIKING ALL OR MOST OF THE USSR BY 1975. We cannot state with confidence just when China will have an ICBM capable of striking the continental United States.

The Chinese are known to be interested in nuclear-powered submarine technology, and probably have the capability to develop a prototype nuclear-powered attack submarine in the next several years. (Some words capitalized for emphasis)

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

Speculation is left to certain columnists and TV commentators who, too often of necessity, express their views based on an unconfirmed batch of observational trivia.

On the contrary, our National defense must be based on, "What is a potential enemy truly capable of." --J.C.

Challenges No-Fault

FORT WORTH

W. Hunter McLean, former Chairman of the Texas Board of Insurance, told a special press briefing that no-fault insurance would increase bodily injury liability rates.

Letters

13 Mar. '72

Top of the Morning to You:

Could any of your readers furnish me any information about two tokens that I recently obtained. These are aluminum, one reads City Market & Bakery, Cameron Texas, good for 5 cent loaf of bread, the other Railroad Saloon, Tate and Fox, Prop's, Cameron, Texas, We O U 12 1/2 cents in trade.

Just when did these two places of business exist? Does any one have a photograph of either place. Thanking you in advance for any information that your readers might be able to furnish me.

Festus Von Blon
1111 Colcord
Waco, Texas 76707

McLean challenged Transportation Secretary Volpe's statement that no-fault would save money, pointing out that Department of Transportation (DOT) data did not support Volpe's conclusion. McLean asserted that DOT actuarial data indicated a substantially increased cost under a complete no-fault plan similar to the AIA plan or the Hart-Magnuson bill.

According to McLean, if the one-third self-injured in single-car accidents, plus the one-third "wrongdoer" injured in two-car accidents are compensated equally to the innocent one-third now paid by traditional liability insurance, something up to 300% of present loss costs would have to be reflected in bodily injury premium rates.

"Forty-one states now have higher passenger private car bodily injury liability rates than Texas. At so, 21 percent of auto premiums paid in Texas are for bodily injury liability. 76 percent for physical damage not affected by no-fault," said McLean.

County Agent's Notes

Farmers Planting Grain Sorghum

By Bill McCutcheon

Milam County farmers planted a lot of grain sorghum acreage last week and as of last Friday, it was estimated that 50 percent of the grain sorghum acreage was planted. As a rule there was ample planting moisture but fields are drying rapidly following planting and a good rain would please almost everyone.

Farmers that rebudded late, or busted beds to apply fertilizer will have to wait for a rain or dry plant. This is one of the hazards of rebudding late, but winter weeds made it necessary in some instances.

Four grain sorghum variety demonstrations will be established in 1972. Two at Buckholts on the Wilburn Beckhusen, and Doyal Arnold farms; one at Splawn on Frank Kratochvil farm and one at Branchville on the John A. Smith farm.

Time to Remove Thatch

Now is the time to remove thatch from your St. Augustine and Bermuda lawns. Thatch is a tightly intermingled layer of living and dead stems, leaves and roots of grasses which develops between the layer of green vegetation and the soil surface. Too much thatch keeps water and fertilizer from properly penetrating the soil, makes some diseases worse, and apparently prevents grass from putting down a deep root system.

The proper use of a powered machine designed to remove thatch is best, but in lieu of this, a rotary mower set as low as possible will also do a good job. In scalping St. Augustine grass, do not allow the machine to go lower than the lowest stolons.

This scalping should be done annually after danger of a freeze is past. Be sure the soil is moist when removing thatch to prevent mechanical injury to grass.

Thatch buildup can be due to several things, including mowing too high and returning clippings. Also, some lawn grasses naturally accumulate more thatch than others.

Fertilizing with a complete fertilizer following thatch removal will help your lawn get off to a good start this spring.

New Machinery Will Revolutionize Cotton Belt

RALEIGH Cotton Incorporated officials have announced the development of new machinery that can save growers throughout the cotton belt as much as $24 per bale in harvesting, handling, storing and ginning operations.

A new module builder and loader-transporter will provide growers their first system for mechanically compacting eight to twelve bales of seed cotton into dense, unrestricted modules that stand free on wooden pallets.

The cotton can remain in storage on the farm until scheduled for ginning. At that time, one man can load the intact modules onto the transporter - a flat-bed trailer without sides - and haul them to the gin at highway speeds.

At the suction pipe, unloading the seed cotton is as fast and easy as unloading conventional trailers because of the layering action of the compactor.

The module builder and loader-transporter will revolutionize the traditional system of moving cotton from stalk to bale, said J. Dukes Wooters, Jr., executive vice president and general manager of Cotton Incorporated, the research, sales and marketing organization of America's cotton growers.

The machinery will be available to growers in time for the 1972 harvest, Wooters said.

The module system brings about savings by reducing turnrow labor during harvest, increasing field efficiency of harvesters, eliminating bottlenecks caused by trailer tieups, and allowing better ginning schedules.

On the turnrow, the module builder, with one operator, can handle the output of three strippers or four pickers.

The efficiency of a single harvester can go up by as much as 20 percent over a season. The harvester loses no time dumping. The module builder tops out mechanically, with no waiting for hands to rake out the basket. It will allow efficient use of larger capacity harvesters.

When used to its maximum potential, the module system eventually can eliminate conventional trailers. During the transitional period the grower can phase out trailers gradually.

Ginning will no longer have to keep pace with harvest. With seed cotton stored on the farm or gin yard, ginning operations can be scheduled for maximum efficiency. Ginners can cut idle time for regular labor and reduce extra crews.

The module system is the second new mass seed cotton handling and storing system developed through research sponsored by Cotton Incorporated.

Research was guided by Cotton Incorporated's manager of mechanization research, J. K. ("Farmer") Jones, and conducted by agricultural engineers at Texas A&M University under Professor Lambert Wilkes.

A mechanical turnrow ricker, introduced last year, was used by more than 60 producers in the High Plains of Texas, and more are expected to use it this year. It forms free-standing ricks for storage on the ground.

The newest innovation, designed for the rain belt, stores seed cotton on wooden pallets.

DeSoto Sorghum Puts Pounds On Cattle

RENNER Texas cattle producers who find that beef gains taper off in the hot summer months should consider planting DeSoto grass in 1972.

A succulent, highly palatable perennial sorghum, DeSoto is bred to keep beef coming in July and August, a time when many improved and native grasses give less than desired results. Seed of DeSoto grass is plentiful and reasonable in price this spring. The best planting period is during April and May.

"DeSoto grass made new friends, particularly across West Texas, in 1971," reports Dr. C. L. Lundell, Director of Texas Research Foundation at Renner. The first half of '71 was especially dismal for forage growth due to drought, he reminded.

"With August rainfall, DeSoto grass responded quickly with beef-making growth on thousands of acres of rangelands and pure seeded DeSoto pastures," explained Dr. Lundell. Within 45 days, DeSoto reached five to six feet in height at the ranches of Leland Woodward and Jack L. Foxworth near Graham, the sites of two Renner Rangeland System demonstration projects.

In the blacklands of Texas, similar surge in growth occurs with warming temperatures and adequate moisture. DeSoto provides readily acceptable forage to put beef cows in excellent condition, and to top out calves for fall market.

DeSoto is one of the companion forages in the year-round Renner Pasture System and the Renner Rangeland System.

Developed in the Foundation's grass breeding program, DeSoto is a perennial that carries the growth response of an annual forage. It is a grass developed from three forage sorghum-type crosses. It carries a high nutrition and palatability level that allows animals to perform well even during extreme heat of mid-summer. This is a period when most improved and native grasses, especially Coastal bermuda grass, will give the livestock man less than one pound of gain per head a day.

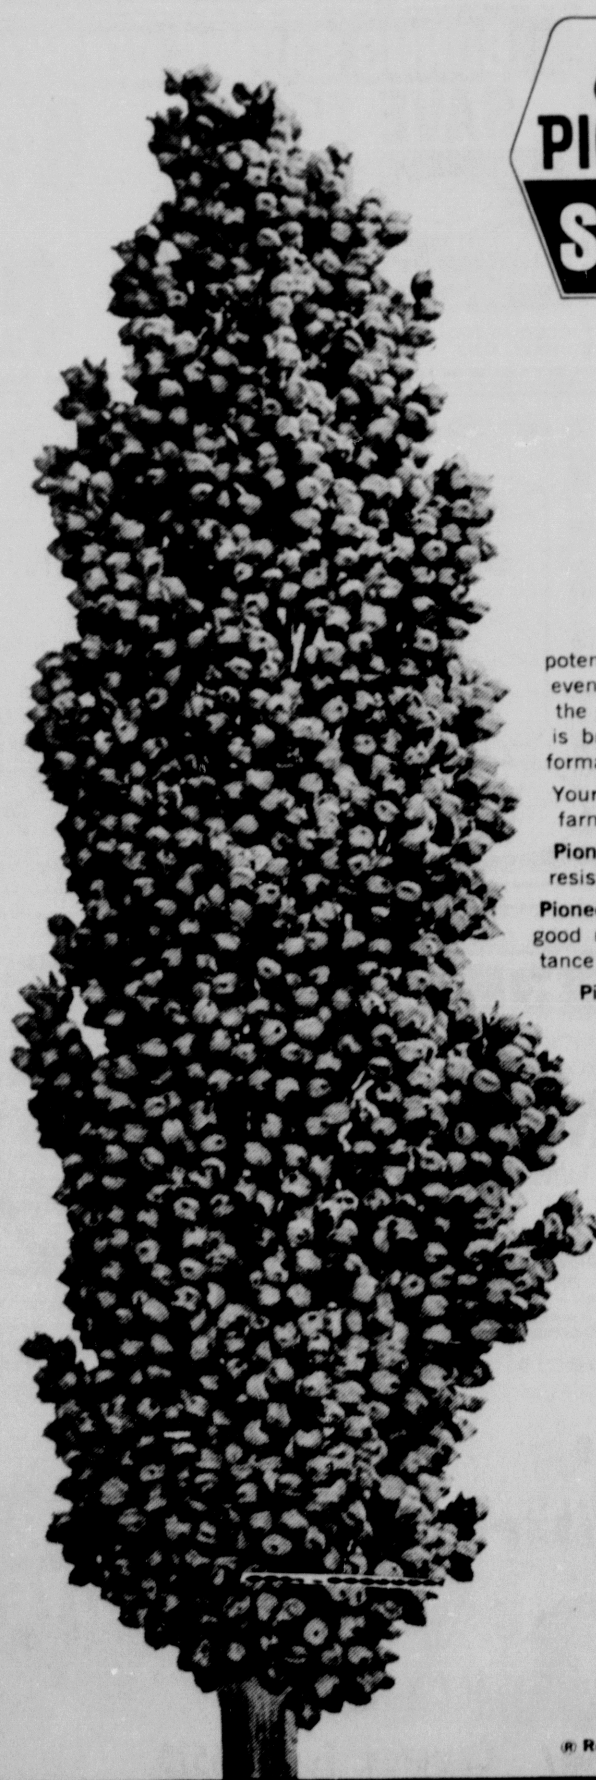

IRS Adds Phone Help For Taxes

Telephone assistance beyond regular office hours will be available at certain IRS offices in southern Texas, according to Internal Revenue Service District Director R. L. Phinney.

The following area cities, whose regular office hours are from 7:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, are designated to remain open this extended time: Austin - 512-397-5233, and Waco 817-756-3721.

For the period March 13 through March 24, telephone assistance will be available until 5 p.m., and during March 27 through April 14 until 6 p.m.

Telephone assistance on Saturdays will also be available at these offices from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on March 25, April 1 and April 8, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on April 15.

Sign of Good Breeding

Pioneer brand grain sorghum varieties have bred-in yield potential to help farmers get the most from their good management even in the face of adverse weather, insects, or plant disease. Also, the genetic inheritance of every Pioneer hybrid is unique. Each variety is bred to bring out the special traits necessary for maximum performance in the area where they are to be grown.

Your Pioneer dealer has many varieties bred to help Central Texas farmers turn in top yields. Some of these varieties are:

Pioneer brand 846: excellent drought resistance — good smut and MDM resistance — maturity in 157 days

Pioneer brand 848: excellent grain quality — short, strong stalks — good roots — excellent thrasher — maturity of 154 days — good resistance to smut and MDM

Pioneer brand 8417: new yellow endosperm variety — full, open heads — good standability — easy thrasher — maturity of 157 days — good resistance to smut, MDM, and anthracnose

Pioneer brand 8681: new, early hybrid — maturity of 138 days — heavy, well-filled heads — short, strong stalks — good tolerance to head smut, MDM, and downy mildew

Pioneer brand 988: sorghum-sudangrass for pasture, green chop, hay or haylage — fast regrowth — disease resistance — high feed quality — exceptional vigor under stress

Good year or bad year, you're better off with Pioneer.

ARNOLD SAFARIK, who farms near Thrall averaged 3800 pounds per acre in a very dry season last year from 80 acres of Pioneer brand 846. With very little rain and no irrigation, his 846 outyielded two competitive hybrids by 800 pounds per acre. Mr. Safarik likes the dependability of 846 in good years or bad and plans to plant 100 acres of 846 this year.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

Do you pay your bills on time? Have you always paid your debts in full? How much do you owe right now and to whom?

You, of course, know the answers to these questions. But so do Consumer Reporting Agencies because they are in the business of collecting this type of information. Every time you apply for credit, employment or insurance, the potential creditor, employer, or insurer will probably purchase whatever information a Reporting Agency has on you.

Therefore, it is important that information these agencies circulate about individual consumers be as accurate and up-to-date as possible. Until recently, it may have been difficult for you as an individual to determine the accuracy as well as the nature of the information these Consumer Reporting Agencies were including in reports made about you.

However, you now have legal protection to insure your basic rights in this area. This is because of the new Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act which is administered by the Federal Trade Commission. You, as a consumer, are entitled to protection against circulation of erroneous, incomplete or obsolete information on which an unsuspecting firm might rely in deciding whether or not to do business with you or to offer you employment.

Some of the most significant of your rights as a consumer are:

1. The right to know the nature and substance of all the information (except medical) in your file at the particular Consumer Reporting Agency.

2. The right to know the sources of information.

3. The right to know who has received a Consumer Report on you within the last six months (or within the preceding two years if the report was furnished for employment purposes.)

If you have been denied credit, insurance, or employment because of information in a Consumer Report, you have the right to be told the name and address of the Consumer Reporting Agency that furnished the report. You then have the right to request and receive all the information mentioned above from the Consumer Reporting Agency free of charge.

If there is incorrect or incomplete information in your particular file, you have the right to challenge it. The Reporting Agency must, in most instances, re-investigate the challenged information within a reasonable period of time. If the information is found to be inaccurate or cannot be verified, it must be removed from your file.

If the Reporting Agency conducts a re-investigation concerning you and you do not agree with the results of this re-investigation, you have the right to file a statement setting out your version of what you consider to be the true facts. Thereafter, if the Consumer Reporting Agency makes a report containing the information in dispute, it must also report your version.

As an additional protection to the consumer, certain information cannot be reported after a specific period of time, i.e., bankruptcies after 14 years; judgments after 7 years; or after the Statute of Limitations has run; paid tax liens after 7 years; past due accounts after 7 years; arrests, indictments, or criiminal convictions 7 years after disposition, release of parole; and any other adverse information after 7 years.

News Correspondent Is BU Woman's Day Speaker

Washington news correspondent Nancy Dickerson will be the featured speaker for the annual Woman's Day observance March 20 at Baylor University.

The public is invited to hear Mrs. Dickerson speak on "Inside Washington" at 10 that morning in Waco Hall on the Baylor campus.

The address will precede a news conference and luncheon for Mrs. Dickerson.

The theme for the 1972 Woman's Day is "I am a Child of the Universe, I have a Right to be Here," a quotation from "The Desiderata."

An awards banquet at 6 p.m. will include the announcement of 12 outstanding Baylor senior women chosen by the Laurel chapter of Mortar Board, national honorary society for outstanding senior women, which sponsors Woman's Day. Clubs and academic departments will recognize outstanding women in their areas.

Tapping of new Mortar Board members will be at the conclusion of the awards banquet, which will be in the Drawing Room of the Baylor Student Union Building.

Tickets for the banquet are available for $3 in the Office of Student Affairs in Pat Neff Hall on the Baylor campus.

Mrs. Dickerson, Washington correspondent for National Broadcasting Company (NBC), was selected by Harper's Bazaar as one of the "100 American Women of Accomplishment." The Radio-TV Daily All-American Awards poll voted her "Woman of the Year" in 1964 for her reporting of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

Her career in news dates to 1954 when Mrs. Dickerson joined Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) News in Washington after working three years as a staff member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. She produced "The Leading Question" and "Capitol Cloakroom," and was associate producer of "Face the Nation."

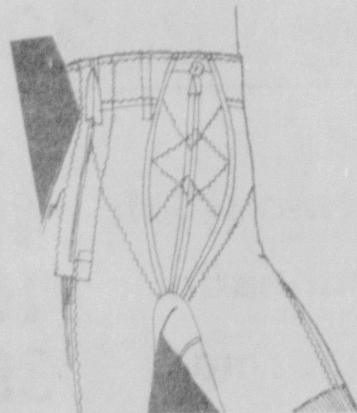

Her current news program, "Nancy Dickerson with the News," is presented on NBC each week day. NBC News Syndication carries her bi-weekly program, "Column of the Air."

Sen. Patman Announces Candidacy For Reelection

For the third time since he started serving in the Texas State Senate in 1961, Senator William N. (Bill) Patman of Ganado is seeking re-election without opposition in the Democratic Primary.

SEN. PATMAN

the district, learning about their needs and working with them in problems that arise. A native of Texarkana, Patman is the son of Congressman Wright Patman. He is married to former Carrin Mauritz, daughter of the late Senator Fred Mauritz who served the 18th District from 1940 until his death in 1947. Mrs. Patman shares her husband's dedication to public service, and currently is National Democratic Committeewoman from Texas. The couple has a 15-year-old daughter, Carrin Foreman Patman.

After he earned a law degree from the University of Texas, Bill Patman worked as legal examiner for the oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad Commission, then moved to Ganado where he since has practiced law and worked in farming and ranching. He was city attorney for Ganado when first elected to the Senate in 1960. A 13-year veteran of the U. S. Air Force Reserve, he retired with the rank of captain.

While in the 31-member State Senate, Patman has made a reputation as an uncompromising fighter for economy and efficiency in state government; for his defeat of high-interest loan legislation, and for his efforts to conserve Texas' natural resources.

Senator Patman said some of the hardest battles are yet to be fought.

Among his legislative accomplishments were establishment of the Texas Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory at Texas A&M University; passage of the Industrial Revenue Bond Act (for which the Texas Industrial Commission recently adopted rules); a bill to better control economic pesticides, and sponsorship of the Texas State Teachers Association's bill to prevent loitering on school property. Shocked to learn that Texas has been running first in the nation in the incidence of diphtheria, measles, polio and other diseases which can be avoided by inoculation, Senator Patman passed a resolution to study ways to improve immunization procedures and provide firm follow-up techniques.

Subsequently, he has been appointed chairman of the Special Senate Committee on Disease Prevention by Immunization, which will make recommendations to the 1973 Legislature. His other interim assignments include appointment to the Texas Legislative Council and the job of chairing its Subject Matter Committee; membership on the Southern Legislative Conference Committee on Agriculture and Rural Development, and service as Texas' legislative appointee to the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission.

"I want to work with all the people of the 18th District," Senator Patman said, "and I welcome their comments and suggestions on every issue."

DOORS OF YOE

By Marilyn Hauk

San Antonio was recently stormed by Glynn Cummings and Joe Trdy as they attended the Decca Convention. If these two ever promise to bring you a "thing" from the big city, be cautious -- it may come from L & M Jewelers the day after they return!

Congratulations to all science fair winners. These folks certainly deserve it for many hard hours were spent working on posters and things.

Last Friday night the Yoe High Tennis Courts and some rather different visitors. Shawn, an exchange student from Iran, fascinated all with his accent while Bud looked for his V.W.

Hot-bat-Hornung, or just plain Toad, has been hard at work averaging 3 runs for 3 hits.

Certainly everyone is glad to have Dennis Hardwick after a bout with sickness in St. Edward Hospital recently.

Ronney Joe Hyder, we're all sorry about your motorcycle. Seeing it pushed home Friday made all wish it a speedy recovery.

The Cameron Junior High eighth grade came in second place in their own relays here Saturday. Madisonville was first with 53 points and Cameron had 51. Georgetown was third with 36.5 and Belton was fourth with 29.5.

Team events and places were:

100 yard dash - Robert Miller, second; 440 yard dash - Craig White, first; 880 yard dash - Jimmy Patzke first, Dennis Hollas second and Stanley Manners 5th.

440 relay - Frank Tena, Jimmy Patzke, Robert Miller and Craig White, first. 880 relay - Jafus White, Jimmy Patzke, Robert Miller, Craig White, first.

Buckholts High Presents Evening Of Comedy, Poetry

Friday, March 17, 7:30 p.m., Buckholts High School presents a program of selected prose and poetry readers and a comedy in one act, "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again!"

Julie (Debra Ruzicka) and Jerry Reed (Paul Mendoza) are a happy young couple living in a small apartment in an old Victorian house in San Francisco. At least, they would be happy if it were not for Julie's cousin, Roxanne Conch, who lives with them.

Roxanne (Janisue Zajicek) is a scatter-brained pest, affecting the latest hippie fashions, and spending most of her time in Zen meditation in the wardrobe, which does not allow Jerry and Julie much privacy.

Jerry decides to get Roxanne out of the house by fair means or foul. The fair means don't work, so Jerry and Julie fake a date from a computer dating service with the help of the unusually incompetent Albert of Albert's Casting Service and Theatrical Agency.

Harold D. Leffler (Larry Eickenhorst), alias A-ro, bearded and berobed guru, arrives for an amusing love story of meditation, wheat germ and drunk mice.

Poetry readers on the program will be Kathy Allison, Michael Allison, Pamela Haisler, Donna Kay Hause, Craig Juneke, Emil Kuzel, and Sally Mendoza. Prose reader will be Terry Zajicek.

Admission is fifty cents for adults, and twenty-five cents for students. For advance tickets or further information, call Temple - 778-5739, Buckholts - 593-2505, or Cameron - 697-2173. Suzanne Mizelle is sponsor for the program.

March 31 Deadline For Medicare Signup

March 31 is a very important date for many individuals here in Central Texas. Jack Calvert, district manager of the Temple social security office, said today.

Those persons that are over age 65 and who are not enrolled in the supplementary medical doctor bill insurance part of Medicare may lose their last chance to get this insurance if they do not enroll by that date.

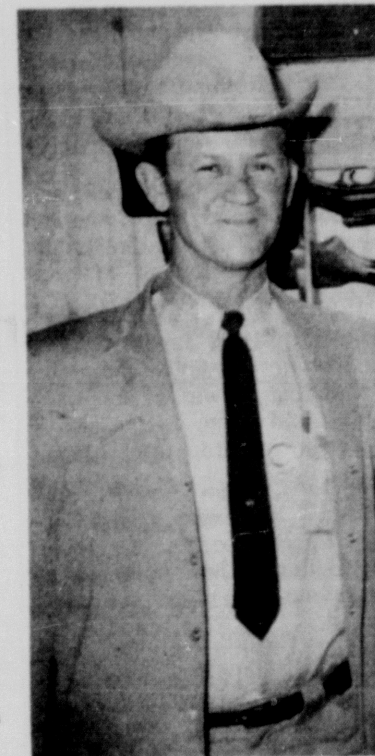

A person who reached age 65 in September 1968 or earlier and has never signed up for this medical insurance coverage is no longer eligible. Anyone who reached age 65 in October 1968 through September 1969 and has never signed up for this insurance must enroll before March 31, or they will never be able to get the insurance later, Calvert cautioned.

What's it to you... THIS CHURCH GOING?

Why, you say, do ministers and other Christians so constantly urge you to go to church?

It's probably because you're human. They know that there lies within you an urgent lack of confidence in yourself, a feeling of dependence on a Supreme Being. When you lift your heart in prayer or raise your voice in hymns of praise, your spiritual energy is renewed.

They know, too, there is something in the human heart that makes men brothers — more fully satisfied to SHARE in worship.

Going to church is all that . . . and much more!
